Catching numbers and statistics

Note percentages, large numbers, dates and trends accurately in a short news report.

Reports and lectures are full of numbers, and they go past quickly. Prepare for the forms numbers take, and listen for the words that tell you whether a figure rose or fell.

Type	How it sounds	Written
Percentages	twelve point five per cent	12.5%
Large numbers	three point two million	3,200,000
Fractions	nearly a third, more than half	about 33%, over 50%
Years	twenty twenty-four, two thousand and nine	2024, 2009
Trends	rose, climbed, fell, dropped, remained steady	up, down, no change

Listen

Write the number first, then the trend. Jot 3.2m ↑ (2.8m) rather than a sentence. Check the unit: per cent, million, nights.

Common mistake. Confusing thirteen and thirty, or fifteen and fifty. The -teen numbers are stressed at the end; the -ty numbers at the start.

Practice

1. How many visitors came last year?
2. How many came the year before?
3. What was the hotel occupancy rate?
4. Did the average stay go up or down? From what to what?
5. What fraction of visitors came from other Gulf countries?

6. What is the target, and for which year?

Transcript

Tourism figures for last year are now in. The country welcomed three point two million visitors, up from two point eight million the year before. Hotel occupancy rose to seventy-four per cent, while the average stay fell slightly, from five nights to four point six. Visitors from Europe made up more than half of the total, and nearly a third came from other Gulf countries. Officials expect numbers to climb again this year, aiming for four million by twenty twenty-seven.
