B1 Writing

Writing a short story

Tell a story about a past event with a clear order, past tenses and time words that link the events.

Stories are a common task in B1 exams and a great way to practise past tenses. A good short story has a clear beginning, a problem, and an ending, joined by time words.

Part	What to include	Useful language
Beginning	Who, where, when	Last summer, I was staying with my cousin in Salalah.
Problem	Something unexpected happens	Suddenly, the car stopped in the middle of the road.
Events	What people did, in order	First we called for help. After that, we waited for an hour.
Ending	How it finished and how people felt	In the end, a farmer helped us. We were so relieved.

Tenses

Tense	Use	Example
Past simple	The main events, one after another	We left at six and arrived at noon.
Past continuous	Background, or an action in progress when something happened	It was raining when the bus broke down.

Time words make a story easy to follow. First, then, after that, suddenly, while, as soon as, in the end. Add one feeling adjective at the end: relieved, proud, embarrassed.

Common mistake. Switching between present and past: We went to the beach and suddenly my brother falls in the water. Keep the whole story in the past: fell.

Practice

1. Put the verb in the past simple: We ___ (go) to the market early.
2. Choose the right tense: I (walked / was walking) home when I saw the accident.
3. Correct the mistake: Yesterday I miss the bus, so I take a taxi.
4. Add a time word: ___ we finished dinner, we went for a walk.
5. Order the parts: (a) In the end, we found the keys in my bag. (b) Last Friday, we were going to the airport. (c) Suddenly, I realised I didn't have the keys.
